Bob Rushing is Featured in Insurance Magazine

BOB RUSHING, his wife, Margaret, and their children, Patricia, 14, and Mike, 9, are the subject of a fine article which occupies seven full pages, including front cover, of the January issue of "noteaster," and the N is not capitalized.)

"noteaster" (boy, it's something for Timmo brazenly to defy the rules of grammar which says a sentence should start off with a capital letter and that a name of a publication also should be capitalized.)

But I'm getting off the subject. The magazine is published monthly by Hardware Mutuals of Stevens Point, Wis., which has offices from coast to coast, and Rushing is the agent for the Harrisburg territory.

The story tells of the family coming to Harrisburg five years ago, of his community activities, and of the territory of southeastern Illinois which Rushing serves. Mr. and Mrs. Rushing were married 17 years ago after their high school work in West Frankfort. He had worked as a utility lineman prior to coming here and one night he became convinced he should switch over to selling.

In repairing line trouble he had opened the switch back at the station and climbed a pole to begin his repair work in a snowstorm. A few seconds after the final splice was made he saw the lights flash on in houses across the countryside. Someone had closed the switch back at the station.

Cover of the magazine shows Rushing talking to Charles Emile Taylor on the southwest corner of the square with the court house (time 5:10-p. m. I suppose—) in the background. There are 16

Man Wanted Here Is Held by FBI In Springfield

Sheriff William T. Barrett today said the Federal Bureau of Investigation had informed him a man wanted here — and probably elsewhere — is being held at Springfield.

He is Lawrence Lane, who was using the alias, Robert Hamlin, when arrested.

Last April Lane moved onto a farm east of Harrisburg and officers said he bought articles in stores, giving large checks and pocketing the change. The checks bounced.

An information on file in county court reveals that last April 14 he cashed a $435 check at Craggs DeVillz furniture store and checks totalling nearly $90 at the Kroger store in Harrisburg and a check for $132.22 at the Green Bros. Hardware store at Eldorado.

He left immediately afterward and was not apprehended until the past few days.

Petitions Question Legality of Williams Serving on Council

City Attorney Advises Circuit Court Proceedings

Petitions asking the mayor and city attorney if it is legal for Don Williams to serve as a city commissioner since he has moved outside the city limits was read at council meeting yesterday and the city attorney advised that circuit court proceedings could be undertaken to determine if the office should be termed vacant.

The matter was brought up by Mayor Claud Gibbons, who produced two sheets of paper which he said contained 20 names and addresses on each sheet, asking for the opinion of the mayor and the city attorney on the Williams matter.

"I can give you my opinion right now," City Attorney George B. Lee said. "I would suggest quo warranto proceedings in circuit court to determine whether the office can legally be vacated. You need a judicial finding that Williams has vacated the office."

Has Moved to New Home

"I gave John H. L. Parish this advice some time ago when he came to me to see about what to do to get Charlie Hine out as commissioner. And I told him the same thing later when he came to me about Williams." Hine is police commissioner, Parish a local resident.

Mayor Gibbons then gave his answer, reading from the Illinois Election Laws of 1955 a passage which said an elective office becomes vacant upon death, resignation, insanity, or when the officer ceases to become an inhabitant of the division from which he was elected.

Sleepwalker Shocks Restaurant Patrons

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Patrons of an all-night restaurant were shocked Tuesday when an unidentified man walked in clad only in a pair of shoes.

When sheriff's deputies arrived, they found the man had gone back to bed in a motel which adjoins the restaurant. He explained he is a sleepwalker.

He dressed, made his apologies in the restaurant and drove away, before the authorities could get his name.

95 Oil Wells Completed in Saline County in '56; Total of 355 Producers

Saline county has a total of 355 producing oil wells, it has been disclosed in a year-end report. There were 95 completions in 1956 and 179 in 1955. The remainder were completed prior to 1955.

The Galatia area was the "hot spot" in 1956 with 49 new producers, 17 dry tests and five operations abandoned. Section 16 had 16 oil wells and section 13 had 15 producers. The others were located in various other sections of the township.

Eldorado township dropped from a record high of 207 operations in 1955 to 20 in 1956.

The oil activity, which got underway during the summer of 1953 with the discovery well located on the Charles Crawford farm in the Green Hill area, in the north-west part of the township, reached its peak during April and May of 1955.

During the 1955 peak year, 143 oil wells were completed in Eldorado township, bringing the total at the end of the year to 199. The year just passed saw only seven wells completed, which made a total of 206 producers at the end of 1956.

Four wells were brought in during the past 12 months in section 18, west of Eldorado, and the other three wells were located in sections 10, 15 and 20.

Raleigh township had considerable activity the past year, however there were 26 dry tests without any producing wells being drilled. Five "dry holes" and no producers were also recorded for Rector township.

Brushy township was next to Galatia for the best oil developing during 1956, there being 15 new producers, 12 dry tests and one well abandoned.

Oil tests were made in 12 of the 13 townships of Saline county, with Carrier Mills being the only township in which no wells were drilled.

The county total for last year shows 95 completed oil wells, 96 dry tests, two gas wells and seven abandoned tests, a total of 200 operations, as against the 1955 total of 324 operations, with 179 producers, 148 dry tests, three gas wells and four abandoned tests.

Gas escaping from the oil wells in Eldorado township, which was burned in flares during the early development stage, has now been turned into gathering pipelines and eventually reaches the "Big Inch" pipeline, which runs through this area.

Only a small amount of gas is allowed to escape now at the wells, whereas it was estimated that 65 million cubic feet was burned daily during the early stages of development.

At the present time, there is a test underway south of Eldorado and one north of town, but the excitement which accompanied the "big push" in 1955 has died down due to the fact that most of the land is under lease and the pools seem to have all been located. Only small areas are still unexplored.

Name Committees, Objectives at Kiwanis Meeting

Davenport also outlined objectives for the year which will include:

Try to win the traveling gavel in Division 16; membership drive; prayer cards for restaurants and to list church services in motels and hotels; white stripes on highways and accident record sign for the community as a safety program;

The Rev. Glen Daugherty urged members to attend the Citizens for Scouting meeting to be held at Marion Monday evening. Dinner reservations should be made in advance.

"Scouting is one way all communities in southern Illinois can work together," Rev. Daugherty stated.

C. Wayland Brooks Is Stricken

CHICAGO (AP)—C. Wayland Brooks, Republican national committeeman from Illinois and former U. S. senator, suffered a possible heart attack Tuesday night.

Brooks, 59, was taken to Passavant Hospital after he suffered chest pains at his home. Firemen first administered oxygen for about 45 minutes.

The hospital said Brooks suffered a possible heart attack, but the "exact significance" of the seizure could not be determined until laboratory tests were completed. His condition was described as "good."

Substitute for Mid-East Plan Is Submitted

Rayburn Says Plan Offered by Former High Gov't Official

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposed 34-word Democratic substitute for President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution drew cautious support on Capitol Hill today. But Speaker Sam Rayburn said he has not endorsed it.

Rayburn said the substitute was submitted to him by a "very prominent man" formerly high in the government. He said it was neither former President Truman nor former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Speculation centered on former Air Force Secretary Thomas K. Finletter as a likely author.

Mr. Eisenhower has laid before Congress a resolution affirming United States interest in the security of the Middle East and specifically authorizing him to use American military forces, if necessary to defend any Middle East nation which seeks our help in resisting Communist attack. The administration resolution also would empower him to grant about 600 million dollars in U. S. military and economic aid to Middle East nations over the next three years.

"Pretty Sane Approach"

The proposed substitute only by inference would authorize the President, on his own, to use force in the area. It would make no mention of economic aid. It simply would state America's interest in independence of the Middle East nations and her determination to use force if necessary to maintain it.

Rayburn said the proposal, and the letter he got along with it, struck him as a "pretty sane approach" to the problem, though "not necessarily better than the President's."

He said he was having copies made so the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which today continued its hearings on the Presi-

Eden Resigns As Britain's Prime Minister

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Anthony Eden resigned today. The move was a sudden surrender to opponents of his ill-fated Suez policy.

With a giveaway faint smile on his face, the 59-year-old statesman walked out of a cabinet meeting at No. 10 Downing Street and went to Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace to give her his resignation.

Eden's sudden decision caught both people and politicians by surprise. It meant the virtual end of his career as a statesman.

The Queen did not immediately summon another man to become prime minister.

Political observers expected the call would go out later tonight or early Thursday to R. A. Butler, the lord privy seal and House of Commons majority leader, who is 53, or to Harold MacMillan, chancellor of the exchequer and former foreign minister.

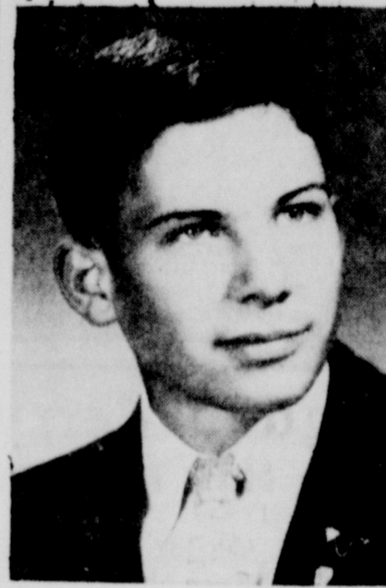

Eden succeeded Sir Winston Churchill as prime minister in April, 1955.

Eden presided over a full cabinet meeting at No. 10 Downing Street after meeting Tuesday night with the Queen at her Sandringham estate in Norfolk.

The Queen herself suddenly cut short her Christmas vacation and drove to London, arriving a few minutes before the cabinet meeting began.

The cabinet session lasted 30 minutes. At its end, Eden drove immediately to Buckingham Palace to see the Queen.

Robert Jones of HTHS, James E. Ozment, Among Scholarship Finalists

Robert B. Jones of Harrisburg Township high school and James E. Ozment of Carrier Mills Community high school are Saline county finalists in competition for more than 700 four-year college scholarships.

Jones is the son of State Senator Glen O. Jones and Mrs. Jones, who reside in Raleigh township. Ozment is the son of Eckert Ozment, Stonefort banker, and Mrs. Ozment.

The two are among 7,500 finalists in competition for the hundreds of National Merit Scholarship Corp. scholarships and they outperformed 162,000 other bright high school seniors in a college aptitude examination given in 12,500 high schools on Oct. 24.

Only other southern Illinois finalists listed were George B. Brickner of Carbondale and Thomas J. Gillyooly of Murphysboro.

The finalists now face stiff three-hour college board examination Saturday at Tilghman high school in Paducah, Ky. John

James E. Ozment

M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corp., said at least 7,000 are expected to survive this hurdle.

The survivors will undergo intensive screenings of their leadership and extra-curricular records by a selection board, and 700 will be named about April 25 as the merit scholars of 1957.

The merit scholars will choose the colleges they wish to attend. They will receive scholarships varying with their financial need, ranging from a minimum honorarium of $100 a year to $2,200 or more per year. The awards are valued at a total of $3,500,000.

The program is designed to seek out the students most able to benefit from a college education, regardless of means. It was established in 1955 through basic grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

Many business and industrial corporations, professional societies and individuals help support the scholars.

KEAUFER BYPASSED:

Sen. Kennedy Assigned to Foreign Relations Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the fourth time, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) has lost out to a senator with less seniority in his bid for a coveted seat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Kefauver was passed up Tuesday in favor of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) to fill the only current vacancy on the committee.

Kennedy, Kefauver's unsuccessful rival for the Democratic vice presidential nomination last year, has been in the Senate for four years. Kefauver for eight.

The time-honored seniority rule for doling out committee assignments is cracking up among Senate Democrats. Thus, the Senate Democratic Steering Committee voted 14-0 to give the foreign relations seat to Kennedy, despite Kefauver's senior claim, in making a new set of committee assignments.

Republican senators, who enforce the seniority rule much more strictly, expected to complete their committee assignments today.

During the four years that Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas has been Democratic floor leader, the party leadership has been bending the seniority rule. Johnson has fought for a policy that every Democratic senator, even a freshman, should have at least one "good" death takes Mrs. Eva Montkahauss, 68, resident of Eldorado, died at 6 p. m. yesterday.

She was a member of the Eldorado Methodist church. Services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Eldorado funeral home. Rev. A. B. Clodfelter will officiate and burial will be in Wolf Creek cemetery.

Mrs. Montkahauss leaves three children: Mrs. Bessie Rhodes, Michigan; Mrs. Jane Carlton, Wyandotte, Mich.; and W. M. Montkahauss of Detroit, Mich.; also the following brothers and sisters: Miss Essie Mosby, Gene Mosby and Mrs. Marshall Cox, all of Eldorado; Mrs. Guy Bixler of Galatia, and Willis Mosby of Edwardsville; also seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Gov. Stratton To Make Brief Welcome Talk

First Business is Swearing In, Pay For Legislators

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The 70th General Assembly, largest in Illinois history, convened today for a six-month session of making and changing laws.

Lt. Gov. John W. Chapman in the Senate and Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter in the House gavelled the Legislature into action shortly after noon.

The visitors' galleries were filled in both houses, new members desks were piled high with floral congratulations, and the aisles were crowded with members' wives and families when the call to order came.

Gov. William G. Stratton planned a brief welcoming address to members of both houses.

First on the opening day program were swearing in ceremonies, formal election of leaders in both houses and paying of the legislators who can take all their $10,000 two year salary now or half now and half later.

Delay Fund Measure

Among the first bills to be introduced in the Senate was a $369,269 deficiency appropriation for the state auditor's office which was looted by ex-Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

House leaders delayed introduction of an emergency 30-million-dollar appropriation for the Public Aid Commission because, according to Republican Majority Leader John W. Lewis Jr., members were opposed to the idea of acting on such a large money matter without a committee hearing.

Original plans called for passage of the bills in both houses by Jan. 16, but Lewis said they would not be introduced until Monday and probably would not be passed by both houses until Feb. 4.

The IPAC needs the money to meet some of its February assistance payments under its public aid programs.

Talk of Sales Tax

Clouding the opening session was persistent talk that a sales tax increase, possibly a whole cent, might be needed to meet increased budget demands.

Speaker Warren L. Wood, Plainfield, was named to captain Republican forces in the House for a fourth time as speaker. Wood will name Rep. John W. Lewis, Marshall, House majority leader, and Rep. William E. Pollack, Chicago, majority whip.

Rep. Joseph L. De La Cour, Chicago, was named House minority leader by the Democratic caucus. Rep. Clyde L. Choate, Anna, will serve again as minority whip.

Sen. Arthur J. Bidwell, River Forest, will serve again as Senate president pro tem for the Republicans and Sen. George E. Drach, Springfield, will be majority whip.

Sen. William J. Lynch and Sen. Roland V. Libonati, both of Chicago, will again serve as Senate minority leader and whip respectively.

All Quiet On The Labor Front

The growing trend toward longer term labor contracts presents the nation with a unique prospect for 1957: since virtually no major union pact expires in 1957, no big strikes appear likely.

What this trend reflects is a keener recognition on the part of both labor and management that the nation has a big stake in stability — without economic stagnation, of course.

Both the managers of business and the union chiefs have learned that progress is possible without constant strife that disrupts the economy. It is a lesson well digested, and a measure of the increased maturity and responsibility on both sides of the bargaining table.

Even the celebrated stormy petrel, John L. Lewis, takes a quieter tack today. Older, chastened by the problems of the coal industry, he hasn't made real trouble for years. And he isn't planning any in 1957, though his Mine Workers union is one of the few big ones negotiating a new contract this year.

Yes, the look of the country on the labor front is changing. Probably most people interested both in the welfare of organized workers and the nation as a whole would say the change is a great improvement.

By the time a fellow is old enough to have something worthwhile to say, his false teeth whistle when he says it.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Congress Support For Eisenhower Doctrine Is Badly Needed: Foreign Governments Don't Believe Eisenhower Would Intervene To Stop War Unless He Had Congressional OK; Dulles And The Have Cried Wolf Too Often.

WASHINGTON. — It would be disastrous in the extreme if the Congress did not support the President in voting the new Eisenhower Doctrine for the Near East. Here are certain events, some of them little known to the public, which back up this conclusion.

Shortly after the election, this writer reported that on November 5, one day before the election, a hurried White House meeting was called to consider the Kremlin's note to England and France threatening attack if they did not quit fighting in Suez.

Herbert Hoover, acting secretary of state, was deeply afraid Russia would precipitate war. He reported various moves made by Moscow.

"This sent the jitters through American leaders," I reported on November 12. "Urgent messages were rushed to Prime Minister Eden and Premier Mollet warning that the fate of western civilization might rest upon their agreement to an immediate cease fire in Suez."

"French reaction was negative. Mollet wasn't worried by the Russian threat. He branded it a big bluff. Eden immediately decided to call off the Egyptian war."

These events, reported exclusively in this column November

12, were officially substantiated on December 12 when U. S. Ambassador Douglas Dillon in France stated that neither the United States nor the United Nations, but rather Soviet threats had brought about the French-British cease fire.

EDEN IS SCORNFUL
This is one backstage incident that makes congressional support for the proposed Eisenhower doctrine so necessary. For both European and the Near East governments are convinced the Eisenhower administration can be out-bluffed by Moscow, that it won't interfere in the Near East unless it has an official OK from Congress.

The view is so widely and scornfully held that Prime Minister Eden, discussing the proposed Eisenhower doctrine with a diplomat last week, remarked that the President would not use American forces unless "the Red army was marching up Pennsylvania Avenue."

Other incidents have contributed to this belief. Here are some of them:

Indochina—Speaking before the Governors' conference in Seattle in 1953, the President stressed the importance of Indochina, warned that the United States might be constrained to act. Later at the American Legion convention, John Foster Dulles threatened "massive retaliation" in a speech obviously aimed at Red aggression against Indochina. Later in April 1954, Vice President Nixon, addressing the American Society of Newspaper Editors, stated that the United States would use troops to block communism in Indochina.

While Eisenhower officials kept making speeches, Communist leaders kept on advancing. Apparently they knew U. S. forces would not be used. Indochina today is more than half Communist.

The Summit Conference — In June 1955, one month before the Summit Conference in Geneva, Ambassador Henry Byroade reported from Cairo Colonel Nasser planned to buy Russian-Czech arms.

Yet nothing was done at the Geneva Conference one month later to stop an arms transaction which was certain to upset, and did upset, the peace of the Near East. It was stated by Eisenhower officials in explanation that the Kremlin chiefs had informed Ike at Geneva that the arms deal was purely a commercial transaction.

Apparently Ike took their word. Two years later, enough arms were found in the Sinai desert by the Israeli army to have equipped several divisions of the Red army. Obviously sent there to be used by Russian volunteers when the time was ripe.

Executive warnings vs. congressional warnings—one of the chief reasons Eisenhower went to Congress with a special request to give him power which he admits he already has, is the ineffectiveness of recent U. S. warnings.

American diplomats abroad have been reporting that Eisenhower administration warnings don't mean much anymore. Nobody particularly believes them.

On the other hand, the warning supported by Congress in regard to Formosa has meant something. The President himself detailed some of the Near East warnings in his message to Congress. Some had been made by Truman, some by him. Truman had participated with Britain and France in the tripartite declaration of 1950 against changing the borders of the Near East. Eisenhower had warned April 9, 1956 against any Near East aggression. Again as recently as November 29, 1956 he warned against any threat to Iraq, Turkey, Iran, or Pakistan.

Simultaneously, we had bowed to Russian threats on November 5, and all during the election campaign he had repeatedly announced that the United States was not going to get involved in the Near East. These repeated statements were believed not only by the American electorate but by the chancelleries of Europe, Asia, and Africa.

So as Ike himself confessed in his message to Congress: "Nevertheless, weaknesses in the present situation and the increased danger from international communism convince me that basic United States policy should now find expression in joint action by the Congress and the chief executive."

This was a dignified way of rephrasing what American diplomats have been reporting in blunter language: That the world of the executive branch of the government, alone, isn't worth much anymore when it comes to stopping a threat of war.

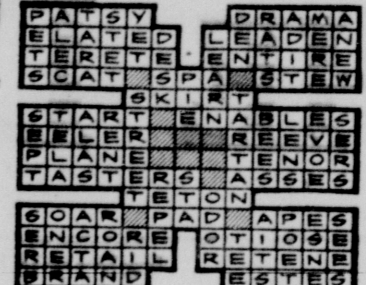

That is why it would be a tragedy if Congress did not back up the new Eisenhower doctrine.

A DOCTOR for BLUE JAY COVE

By ELIZABETH SEIFERT

Copyright 1956 by Elizabeth Seifert.

Distributed by NEA Service.

THE STORY: Dr. Alex Ward, the new resident at the private hospital in Blue Jay Cove, is rapidly fitting into his duties. The newest patient at the hospital, Miss Lenoire Black, who has rented a houseboat and is being treated as an out-patient, is a woman of mystery.

VIII

"I'd think you'd want to do it, just to please me," said Cordy Ward, not plaintively, but as if she argued in a debate.

Which it was, really. A running debate, sometimes silent, between her and Alex's wife. Aunt Cordy enjoyed the constant clashes of will between them. She visibly girded on her sword and waded into the matter. Any matter.

While Cass, having recovered from her first dismay, was inclined to stand her ground, quietly, coldly, distastefully.

"The trouble with you two," Alex made an attempt to discuss the situation, "is that you're too much alike."

Aunt Cordy laughed at the charge as absurd.

Cass, her face stone white, turned and walked out of the room, so rigidly stiff with anger that, she confessed afterward, her heels had hurt from walking so.

"But, darling..." Alexa protested.

"Why did you say such a thing?" she begged.

"You don't like my mother—"

"She's given me no chance to like her. From the first, she's had a chip on her shoulder about me."

"I know that Aunt Cordy works on emotion-power, not reason. You can run on emotion, but there are times—"

Cass looked up at him warily.

"Well, you're both the efficient type, you both like to manage things, and—well—it's something like your trying to drive that car you talk about with two people at the wheel."

"One day she told me to put on a skirt over my shorts."

"She went beyond her right."

Cass rubbed her cheek against his shoulder. "You shouldn't be worried about this," she told him.

"But what shall I do? Of course when it gets colder, I won't be wearing shorts. But a lot of my dresses are made to wear over frilly petticoats—that's the style, Alex! Doesn't Marcy wear them?"

"If it's the style, you can bet on it."

Cass sighed. "Alex, should I have gone into the kitchen tonight and made those biscuits?"

"I'll say this: Aunt Cordy shouldn't have put her request as she did—something about the cook being sick, and that she'd have to fry the fish, and you'd have to make the biscuits."

"And I said biscuits didn't seem necessary. And they don't, Alex! This matter of hot bread..."

"Has she ever asked you to help out before?"

"No. In fact, whenever I've suggested helping, she's put me off. I could help her. I'm experienced in managing people—but—things were all taken care of, she's said. Though I suppose, in this emergency—granted I could make biscuits. Which I can't."

He laughed.

"Yes, I'm a stinker," decided Cass. "And I'll try to do better."

"No-o," he said thoughtfully. "I think it was the emergency item that was wrong. Aunt Cordy should have given you enough of a share in things usually. Then when an emergency arose, you'd naturally expect to fill in."

"This is her home. If I live in it, I must be the one to adjust."

Which was a wise, and brave, statement. But one not always remembered.

The Haven was Aunt Cordy's home, but Cass felt that the apartment above the garage could be considered as her own domain, that she could arrange its furniture to suit herself, that she could take down some of the pictures that were on the walls, and substitute her own reproductions of Renoir and Cassatt. She spent almost a week making a family tree arrangement of portraits on the wall.

One day Cass came in from swimming at the club; October was as warm, still, as summer. She ran up the steps, and stopped short to find her door standing open, and her mother-in-law in the living room.

"What's all this?" Aunt Cordy demanded, waving her pudgy hand at the wall.

"My family tree," said Cass, going around the big woman, toward the bedroom. She was counting a second ten.

"So I see," Aunt Cordy was saying, in a certain tone.

Cass hung her wet suit and towel on a rack, glanced into the mirror, came out again rubbing at her damp hair. "Will you sit down?" she asked politely.

"Oh, I don't think I have time. I came up to see if you had a special delivery stamp."

Cass's eyes darted toward her desk. "Didn't you know I was going swimming? Pauline Hartmann called me last night..." And Aunt Cordy Ward had listened frankly, to the conversation.

"Oh, yes," she agreed, "I knew where you were."

Cass began to count again. Had this—this woman—gone into her desk? "I'll see if I have a stamp," she offered. "But I'm afraid I don't. However, I'll take the letter to the post office for you."

"It's Marcy's check. Well, after you've changed, perhaps."

Cass looked down at her Bermuda shorts. She felt adequately dressed. "I can just make it before dinner time," she said firmly. And waited so pointedly for Aunt Cordy to go out before her that Aunt Cordy did go.

Ragsdale-Best Marriage Ceremony Performed at Equality Methodist Church

In a lovely holiday wedding Sunday, Dec. 23, at 2:30 o'clock Miss Marilyn Ragsdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ragsdale, became the bride of Dale Best, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Best of Worden, Ill.

The ceremony was performed at the Equality Methodist church by the pastor, the Rev. Frank Pierce who used the double ring ceremony.

Using a Christmas theme, the church was beautifully decorated with green and white with the lighted candles illuminating the altar.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Irene Pierce played nuptial music and as the wedding party entered she played the wedding march and accompanied the singer, John Kammerman, who is a classmate of the couple. He sang "Always" and "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a full length gown of embroidered lace over satin. She wore a waist length veil and carried a bouquet of gardenias with matching streamers.

Serving the bride as maid of honor was Miss Carol Goings and bridesmaid was Miss Alma Kleinaitis, both schoolmates of the couple. Both carried bouquets of white carnations.

Ron Stoltz was groomsmen and Jim Billman was best man. Ushers were Freddie Edwards and Dennis Best, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Ragsdale chose for her daughter's wedding a rose lace street length dress with which she wore matching accessories and white gloves. Her flowers were gardenias.

Three Former Turncoat Soldiers File Suit for $14,000 Army Back Pay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three former turncoat soldiers have filed suit against the government to recover about $14,000 in back pay and allowances while they were prisoners of war in Korea.

The suits were filed by Lewis Griggs of Jacksonville, Tex., Otto G. Bell of Hillsboro, Miss., and William A. Cowart of Dalton, Ga. The former prisoners of war refused to return to the United States after the Korean armistice but later renounced Red China and came home in July, 1955.

The Army charged all three with collaborating with the enemy when they returned to this country. They have denied the charges.

In their suits before the U. S. Court of Claims Bell asked for $4,580; Cowart $5,057, and Griggs $4,071.

After the Army filed its charges against the three men the Supreme Court ruled that since they had been given dishonorable discharges when they refused to return home they could not be tried by court-martial.

The Army has turned down their pay claims.

The three were among 23 American soldiers who refused to return home at the end of the Korean War.

Find Missing Jet, Body of Pilot

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A two-day search for a missing Navy jet plane ended Tuesday afternoon when Marine pilots spotted the plane's wreckage on North Carolina's outer banks and an hour later removed the pilot's body from the cockpit.

A Navy spokesman in Chicago, where the plane originated its final flight, identified the victim as Lt. Cmdr. Joseph I. Neri, Chicago.

The F9F single-seat fighter was one of a flight of six en route from Glenview, Ill., to Jacksonville, Fla., with a refueling stop at Oceana. It was last heard from Sunday afternoon when the pilot radioed his engine had failed near Warsaw, N. C.

The other five Navy jets landed at Oceana without incident.

Post to Complete Collier's Serial

NEW YORK (AP)—Former employees and former readers of Collier's Magazine need worry no longer about back pay or the final installment of a serial.

Editorial, advertising and clerical employees who lost their jobs because of the suspension of Collier's and the Woman's Home Companion will receive back pay this week, Paul C. Smith, president and board chairman of the Crowell Collier Publishing Co. announced Tuesday.

The Saturday Evening Post, one-time rival of Collier's, also announced it will carry the third and last installment of the Luke Short serial "Doom Cliff," in its Feb. 9 issue. When Collier's suspended publication the serial had one installment to go.

No Live Telecast by Red Skelton Because Of Son's Illness

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Red Skelton show was shown on film instead of telecast "live" because the comedian was "completely broken up" by a recent disclosure that his son is dying of leukemia, the Columbia Broadcasting System said today.

Feeling Running High in Missouri Following Attempted Attack on Girl

SIKESTON, Mo. (AP)—The head of the Missouri highway patrol was en route here today to take personal charge of law enforcement in the state's "hooch" area following the slaying of a high school youth and an attempted attack on a 13-year-old girl.

Feeling was reported high in the two county area. Students at the integrated high school at Charleston, Mo., demonstrated again before the start of today's classes and tried to prevent two Negro boys from entering.

Highway patrolmen said there was "some pushing" by white students but officers quickly broke up the demonstration. The Negro boys went to classes.

Col. Hugh Waggoner left Jefferson City by auto before noon on the 200-mile trip to the area. He said he felt he was needed because of the "high feeling" but had no plans at present to reinforce the 20 state troopers now patrolling the Sikeston-Charleston area.

The attempted attack on the 13-year-old girl was reported to have occurred Tuesday night at Wyatt, a town of about 400 population, 19 miles west of Sikeston. It followed by three days the slaying of John Malugen, captain of the Charleston high school football team, and the rape of his girl companion near Sikeston.

Stopped by Man

Waggoner said his men would continue to patrol schools and towns in the area to prevent violence. Officers made a house-to-house search of the Negro section of Charleston Tuesday night but found no suspects.

On Tuesday, Scott County Sheriff John Dennis offered a $500 reward for information leading to the killer of a Charleston, Mo., high school boy. The murderer also raped the girl who accompanied him in a Saturday night attack.

Tuesday-night's incident occurred about 7 p. m. when the daughter of a Wyatt lumber cutter and her 11-year-old companion were bicycling to their homes.

Police said the girls were stopped by a Negro who wore olive drab trousers and an Army parka with a hood. The man grabbed at the older girl's clothing, ripping off her blouse.

The screams of the two brought residents rushing out of their homes and the Negro fled.

Funeral services were held Tuesday for Johnny Malugen, 18-year-old captain of the Charleston football team. Sikeston Mayor Charles Butler appealed to all citizens for information about any suspect in his slaying.

Many of the officers engaged in the search for Malugen's killer have joined in the new manhunt.

Rejected Suitor Kills Coed, Wounds Himself

VERMILION, S. D. (AP)—A rejected suitor shot and killed his University of South Dakota sweetheart and then fatally wounded himself Tuesday night in a violent climax to their stormy campus romance.

Dead were Joan Bruyer, 21, a pretty university senior and drum majorette, and Don Steele, 19, Minneapolis, a former university sophomore with a background of mental disorder.

Miss Bruyer, her body riddled with bullets, died shortly after the shooting on an operating table at a hospital here. Her ex-fiance died hours later in a Sioux City, Iowa, hospital of a bullet wound in the temple.

The two were found on a blood-soaked carpet in the Bruyer living room. A .22 caliber revolver lay nearby. The girl's body was riddled by several bullets.

The victim's mother, Mrs. Evelyn Bruyer, a divorcee, said she heard the volley of shots only seconds after she and a woman visitor left the living room and the couple was alone.

Million Dollar Blaze in Freeport Downtown Area

FREEPORT, Ill. (AP)—A million-dollar fire raged out of control for about eight hours during the night through a downtown business area, destroying three buildings and damaging two others.

The blaze broke out in the Stuenkel Department Store. Firemen said when they arrived at the scene the three-story building was filled with dense smoke and erupted into a sheet of flame almost immediately.

The fire spread quickly to the adjoining E and W clothing store, a 4-story structure. Huge crowds, at one time estimated at more than 10,000, converged on the area.

Apartment dwellers in the path of the flames fled as a third building, the Leath and Co. furniture store, caught fire. Firemen on the scene reported all three buildings a total loss.

About Town And Country

other pictures illustrating the article including a picture of their new home on West Lincoln which they built recently.

THIS STORY DOESN'T have a moral because one should not stay home from church on the chance that something good will happen, but Guy DeNeal, affable instructor of Radiological Detection classes under the Civil Defense program, stayed home the other night and got a call from his son, who is in the upper stretches of Greenland.

The rest of the family went to church, but for some unexplainable reason Mr. DeNeal remained at home and the phone rang. His son, Lt. Glendel C. DeNeal, was calling him from northern Greenland.

Now there are no telephone lines running up where young DeNeal is stationed but there's a system for calling home. The conversation is carried from the northern point to New York and back again by radio, the remainder of the way by telephone.

So, one could not interrupt the other in the middle of a sentence. When one was through talking he would say "over" and the radio would switch over to the other person.

"My son's voice came in very clear," Mr. DeNeal, who started a new Radiological course at Junior high school last night, said.

Cost of the call was the telephone line from New York to Mr. DeNeal's home in Rudement community.

Substitute for Mid-East Plan Offered dent's proposal, could study it. "I haven't endorsed anything," Rayburn emphasized.

There was no immediate public comment by the administration on the proposed substitute.

But top administration officials promptly dispatched two aides to the Capitol to see Rayburn. Rayburn reportedly assured them, as he did newsmen, that he had not embraced the proposal.

Committee members expressed interest in the substitute and one, Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio), said "I'm 100 per cent for it."

Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) said the proposal appeared to have merit but that he thought it could be improved by including additional matter, such as reference to the United Nations.

Democratic committee members generally were cautious in their comments, pending receipt of the proposal from the speaker. Republicans were inclined to view it dimly.

"I think it would be disastrous," said Rep. John M. Vorys (R-Ohio) "because it would make every border scrap a question of vital interest to the United States with out saying a word about the Communist menace."

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel, so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to stimulate it to contract and act; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturiz-

Budget Group Approves State Auditor Funds

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The Illinois Budgetary Commission today approved a deficiency appropriation of $369,259 to put the state auditor's office, gouted by Orville E. Hodge, in the black for the remainder of the current biennium.

State Auditor Lloyd Morey told the commission Tuesday that Hodge had made "fraudulent expenditures" of $943,771 in addition to other items "questionable for one reason or another," totaling $1,028,240.

"It appears reasonable to assume that between $1,200,000 and $1,500,000 was unnecessarily or wrongfully expended from the original appropriations," Morey said.

He said the auditor's office now has "about $220,000 in bills I can't pay . . . although we have substantial sums of money in various accounts which cannot be transferred to other accounts."

Morey said bills had been prepared for introduction in the Legislature today appropriating the $369,259 deficiency and for transferring another $290,000 from various accounts to other accounts to make up shortages.

The auditor's office needs the deficiency appropriation to pay its way through the end of the biennium June 30, Morey said.

CARRIER MILLS HIGH SCHOOL chapter of Future Homemakers of America, under the direction of Mrs. Harold James, home economics instructor at CMHS, have recently completed three projects. Top photo shows a part of the home making room, decorated by the F. H. A. and Homemaking classes, where a Christmas brunch was served by the F. H. A. girls to students and faculty. Lower left photo shows another Christmas season project. Cigar boxes were painted and decorated with gay felt designs by the F. H. A. girls. A part of the designs were for men and others for women. This project was in co-operation with Carrier Mills Women's club, who filled the boxes with small, appropriate gifts and delivered them to patients at Anna State hospital. In photo at lower right a group of girls primp in a newly decorated corner of the girl's rest room. A grooming unit was made by painting old stools, waste cans, mirror frames, adding a gay pink ruffle over the mirror and matching ruffle at the windows. "Primping now is fun" the girls report.

Greater Egyptian Conference Cage Tourney Begins Jan. 15 at Ridgway

The annual Greater Egyptian conference tournament will be staged at Ridgway next week, starting Tuesday, Jan. 15 and continuing through Friday, Jan. 18.

Loop leading Rosiclare and host Ridgway, occupying second place in the conference standings, were seeded 1 and 2 respectively when the tournament pairings were made.

As the conference is now a seven-team organization one school, Galatia, drew a bye into the semifinals and there will be only one game the opening night of the tournament. That night game

Slater Martin New Hawks' Pilot

ST. LOUIS — The smallest player in professional basketball, Slater (Dugie) Martin, took over as coach of the St. Louis Hawks today, replacing Red Holzman who resigned two days ago.

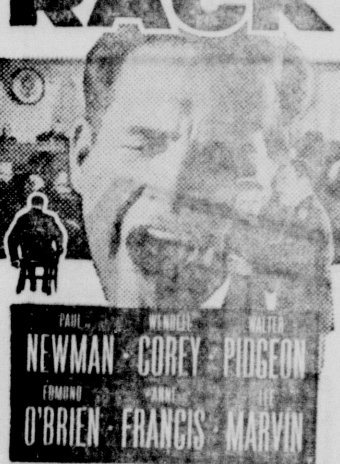

Martin, who stands only 5-foot 10 inches, was named to pilot the Hawks for the rest of this season by owner Ben Kerner late Tuesday.

"Martin is the coach for this year," Kerner said. "But I will decide on the coach for next season after the end of the current season, probably in April."

Ridgway, Galatia, Cave-in-Rock Win Greater Egyptian Loop Tilts

Ridgway, Galatia and Cave-in-Rock won Greater Egyptian conference games Tuesday night, winning from Shawneetown, Equality and Pope County respectively.

Ridgway, holding second spot in the conference standings, rolled to a top heavy 76-30 decision over its Gallatin county neighbor, Shawneetown.

Off to a fast start, the winning Ridgway team held a 23-5 quarter time lead. Shawneetown made its best showing in the second quarter, holding a 16-15 scoring edge for the period, but Ridgway came roaring back, both on attack and defense. In the final two quarters,

Snider Receives Contract, Best Wishes by Boss

NEW YORK — Brooklyn Dodger slugger Duke Snider had a brand new $41,000 contract today and the boss' best wishes "to edge out teammate Roy Campanella as the National League's most valuable player."

"Every other year is supposed to be Campy's year," said Dodger President Walter O'Malley after Snider, National League home run champion, telephoned his acceptance of the new pact from Fallbrook, Calif. "But this year I'd like to see the Duke edge him out for the award."

Snider never has won an MVP award although he finished a close second to Campanella in the 1955 voting.

The 30-year-old Snider's batting average dipped under the 300 mark to .292 last season, but the free-swinging centerfielder nevertheless swung the biggest bat of all the Dodgers. He whacked out 43 homers to lead the league for the first time in his career and was the circuit's runnerup in slugging with .598, runs scored with 112, total bases with 324 and doubles with 33. In addition, he knocked in 101 runs.

The Cincinnati Redlegs, St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs provided other winter news on the baseball front.

The Redlegs announced that they have sent outfielder Stan Palys to Nashville of the Southern Association and that outfielder Jerry Lunch and pitcher Russ Meyer were declared fit after physical examinations by club physician Dr. George Ballou.

The Cardinals brought their list of satisfied players to 42 with the addition of outfielder Chuck Harmon, catcher Gene Greene and pitchers Frank Barnes and Ted Wiencek. The Cardinals' unsigned players include Stan Musial and outfielder Wally Moon.

The Cubs announced that first baseman Dee Fondy and infielder Ed Winceniak had agreed to terms.

Elvis Passes Draft Physical

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — A pre-induction physical report which will make singer Elvis Presley's draft classification 1A was mailed to his draft board today.

Capt. Elwyn Rowan said the singer passed his pre-induction physical with ease and "qualified for 1A."

However, Rowan said it would probably be six months or more before Presley is called in service, despite the top draft-eligible classification.

The civilian time left for Presley will depend on the size of the city's draft quota and the number of volunteers, he said.

Greatest Fisheries
Japan with 3,000,000,000 short tons, and the United States, with 2,000,000,000 short tons of fish annually, are the countries with the greatest fisheries.

French Morocco's native goat population numbers some eight million.

Ridgway scored a total of 38 points and held the losers to just nine.

Suttner, Lawler, Clifford and Ballard scored in double figures for the winners, with Suttner's 22 points setting the pace. Lawler had 19, Ballard 15 and Clifford 13. Stewart's 11 points was tops for Shawneetown.

Galatia and Equality, entering the game with 3-3 records in conference play, were about even the first half, which ended with Galatia on top 29-24. Then the winning Galatia team pulled away in the final two quarters to win with comparative ease.

McFarland of Galatia was the game's top scorer with 18 points and teammates Odle, Hill and Cantrell were in double figures with 16, 12 and 12 respectively.

Emery paced Equality with 14 points and Glover had 10. Equality was very "cold" at the free throw line, connecting for only 7 in 21 tries while Galatia was hitting 16 of 26.

Cave-in-Rock made a 14 point halftime advantage hold up for a 57-43 victory as Pope County came back in the second half to play on even terms with the Rockers.

Cave-in-Rock held a 10-7 first quarter edge and was in front 24-10 at the half.

Each club scored 15 points in the third quarter and also played to a stand-off, 18-18, in the fourth frame.

King of Pope County hit for 22 points to take game scoring honors. Shore paced Cave-in-Rock's attack with 20 markers.

The victory put the Rockers one game over .500 with a 4-3 record and Pope County now has a 1-6 conference record.

Three conference games are on tap for Friday: Ridgway at Galatia, Equality at Shawneetown and Cave-in-Rock at Rosiclare.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Two high schools—Galatia and Shawneetown—have hogged honors in the Greater Egyptian tournament the past five years, but neither is considered a threat for the 1957 title.

Galatia won the GEC tourney title in 1952, 1953 and 1954, beating Shawneetown in a thriller in the 1954 championship game. Then Shawneetown came along and won the 1955 and 1956 crowns.

Rosiclare and Ridgway are considered the strongest entries this time. The tourney starts Tuesday at Ridgway.

John Malugen, the Charleston, Mo., high school student and football player who was killed Sunday night while parked with his girl friend, was well known to Louie Beltz, Junior high school coach and athletic official.

Beltz said he had officiated Cairo - Charleston football games and became acquainted with the youth. "He was a fine football player and a good boy," Beltz said today in talking about Malugen.

WEBQ again will carry all St. Louis Cardinal National league baseball games and also will broadcast 17 exhibition games, Manager I. M. Taylor reports.

Taylor was in St. Louis over the weekend and met with Cardinal officials and representatives of the advertising agency lining up the radio network.

Baseball fans in this area have had the opportunity of listening to Cardinal baseball over WEBQ for many years.

Professional brand ice hockey returns to Evansville's Municipal Stadium Thursday, with the Huntington Hornets meeting the 1957 United States national team at 8 p. m.

The U. S. National team is the same team that will represent this nation in the 1957 world championship games in Stockholm, Sweden, late next month. Eight members of the 1957 team played on the 1956 Olympic squad that finished second to Russia in the winter games at Cortina, Italy.

Huntington is a member of the International Hockey League. A public skating session will follow the hockey match and holders of hockey tickets are entitled to skate without additional cost.

Tigers Reject White Sox' Offer for Kaline

CHICAGO — The Chicago White Sox "offer" of $250,000 for batting star Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers swish through the nets after the buzzer has sounded is a thrill lots of basketball teams never experience.

But it happened twice to Cairo last Saturday night in a game against Norris City.

Cairo tied the game 36-36 by swishing one through as the half ended. Then just before the game closed and Cairo behind by two points a player heaved one from the centerline. The ball was in flight when the buzzer sounded, but the ball went through the hoop and tied the score at 72-72.

Cairo won the game in two overtime periods, 76-74.

was rejected today with the observation by Tiger officials that the Sox were just having "a little fun."

Tiger President Fred Knorr said in Detroit that the Chicago bid was "$150,000 behind what Kansas City offered for Kaline last year."

But Sox Vice President Chuck Comiskey insisted he was serious in making the Tigers this bid for Kaline, the 1955 American League batting champion. A straight $250,000 in cash, or two outfielders, two pitchers, and cash.

Comiskey said the trade offer was made because Detroit apparently "was having difficulty getting him (Kaline) to sign." He said the White Sox felt Kaline would be "attractive" in the number four position in the Sox batting order.

Foggy River Boys to Be With Ozark Jubilee Appearance Here Jan. 28

The Harrisburg Police Department-sponsored Ozark Jubilee personal appearance at the Harrisburg Township high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Jan. 28 will bring to Harrisburg for the first time this popular television show which appears on WSIL-TV every Friday night.

The Ozark Jubilee was voted the number one Country-Western TV show in the nation for 1956 by various national television magazines.

Authentic Southland spirituals, comedy, barbershop ballads, modern arrangements of hit parade tunes are done well by the "Foggy River Boys," to be here with the show.

The "Foggies," seen each week on the "Ozark Jubilee," make Springfield, Mo., their home base, though personal appearances have taken them many times around the globe in mileage traveled. Their headman, Monty Matthews, is undoubtedly one of the outstanding veterans of quartette work.

In 1946 Monty and his brother

Bill organized the original "Jordanaire's" quartette at radio station KWTO in Springfield. Shortly thereafter, they accepted an offer to join NBC's "Grand Ole Opry," where they held down a featured spot for some 7 years. And it was there that Monty met the entertainer who has since become his greatest showbusiness friend, Red Foley, with the youthful Matthews doing arrangements for all of the big-selling Foley Sacred records and backing the famed redhead vocally on the recording sessions.

Departing the Opry with Foley, Monty formed his fabulous foursome of today and named them after the Cumberland River which is nick-named "Foggy River." The personnel includes—in addition to bossman Monty Matthews—Charlie Hodge, Don Taylor and Earl Terry.

Their present schedule of personal appearance bookings gives the group little opportunity for rest, and the majority of their rehearsing is done in a 7-passenger Cadillac, which carries them an average of 500 miles a day between engagements. And speaking of rehearsing, the major part of their songs are custom-made arrangements, since Monty is especially talented in this respect his name being familiar to most anyone who has ever purchased a book of religious songs.

No Decision Yet On Prison Site

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Justice Department spokesman said today that no decision had been made on a site for the federal government's new maximum security prison.

The department previously narrowed the area down to a four-state section composed of the southwestern quarter of Illinois, the nine western counties of Kentucky, northwest Tennessee and the eastern section of Missouri.

The spokesman said the Justice Department's screening committee had arrived at no decision yet on the exact location of the new penitentiary. The group is slated to present its findings to Congress later this year.

Girl Scouting

PROGRAMS IN 1957
TO HONOR FOUNDER

The Harrisburg Girl Scout Leaders' club met at the Presbyterian church Monday afternoon.

In keeping with the program for 1957, suggested by the World

Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, Harrisburg Girl Scout leaders plan to honor Robert Baden-Powell, founder of scouting, during this year of the hundredth anniversary of his birth.

Throughout the world, for this century year, Girl Scouts and Guides will honor Lard Baden-Powell by doing a special good turn in his memory.

A program was outlined for the Harrisburg Girl Scouts to do their special good turn by being of service to the community, helping needy people, and aiding in any way possible during emergencies.

Each month one Girl Scout law will be stressed. For January, special emphasis will be given the first law, "A Girl Scout's Honor is to be Trusted."

SENIOR TROOP ENJOYS OVERNIGHT OUTING

Harrisburg Senior Girl Scout Troop 18 went on an overnight outing to a cabin on Lake Harrisburg Friday. The girls took their own bedding and cots for sleeping. The primitive method of cooking was used to prepare a Mexican dinner of chili and hot tamales over the fireplace. Each girl cooked her
